Airdrie Regional Air Show a Soaring Success

July 19, 2011 - For immediate release

Airdrie, AB – The 2011 Airdrie Regional Air Show was a great success with over 27,000 spectators taking in aerobatic and ground displays over the 2-day show with Sunday seeing a bit higher attendance than Saturday.

“The Airdrie Regional Air Show Society is so proud of how the event turned out, from weather, to attendance to the air show its self, it was just awesome,” says Peter Brown, Chair of the Airdrie Regional Air Show Society.

“I would like to sincerely thank all of our sponsors, partners, performers and volunteers. Without everyone pulling together there would be no air show. And I really want to acknowledge the spectators, not just for coming out to the show, but for their cooperation in keeping the grounds clean. Numerous pilots commented on how clean the grounds were and that is very important as any debris that makes its way into a propeller or jet intake can spell disaster, so a huge thank you to everyone for making it a safe event,” added Brown.

“With the success of our second Airdrie Regional Air Show we look forward to bringing the community another show in 2013,” says Brown. An event of this magnitude takes a number of truly dedicated volunteers. The Board of Directors have been working on this show for over a year and will require more people to join the board for a 2013 show.
