Alberta Aviation Museum receives CAPA award

October 14th 2011, the Alberta Aviation Museum received its award from the Canadian Aeronautical Preservation Association during the annual banquet, held this year in Windsor Ontario.

The award reads...

"In appreciation of your unselfish dedication, hard work and leadership toward the protection and preservation of our rich Canadian aeronautical history"

The award comes in the wake of the Alberta Aviation Museum's recognition by CAPA as one of Canada's Nationally significant Aviation Museums in 2009 and the award it received for the Centennial of flight celebration "Spirit of Edmonton" project in 2010.

This latest award, the third in as many years, confirms the Alberta Aviation Museum as one of the "Premier" Aviation Museums in Canada.

The Alberta Aviation Museum Association would like to express its thanks to the Canadian Aeronautical Preservation Association for recognizing the hard work and dedication shown by the Alberta Aviation Museum team.

The Canadian Aeronautical Preservation Association (CAPA) is the National umbrella organization for the over 35 Canadian Aviation Museums providing national representation for our aviation history and a forum for the Canadian Aviation Museums to work and co operate within.
